Water Debate Subsides as New Survey Is Made

Gradually the water controversy is subsiding. Common sense and a willingness of nearly everybody interested in the matter to adopt a conciliatory position, has led to a better understanding.

Councilman Ben Hall, chairman of the council's water committee, accompanied by Herbert Hallett, superintendent of public utilities, is visiting each home and making such adjustment of the summer irrigation rate as seems equable.

All told, it is expected that the summer irrigation rates will not yield the city council more than $1,000, and in view of the growing needs of the growing city, this is regarded as very small.

As indicating just how badly the water system is in need of repairs, the main leading from the Sugar Loaf reservoir this morning burst and a lot of water poured to waste, while an additional pressure was released on the Canada Hill side to offset the loss. It is estimated that something like $700 must be spent to replace the old water main lines in which this last break occured.

CONSTRUCTIVE IDEAS ON WATER MUCH NEEDED

Editor Nevada City Nugget
Nevada City, Calif.,
Dear Sir:

The discussion that has recently taken place regarding the assessment levies on the water users of this city has been of interest to me as I at one time gathered data with which to protest a raise of water rates in another city.

First I want to say that I appreciate the position of the city council, not only this city council but the councils in all small cities, devoting their time and best efforts without compensation and with but little support from the citizens on their constructive programs, but often the target of the most severe criticism if some of their acts seem to tread on the toes of the dear public. I speak from experience as I have been a member of the council in a small city in California.

To get back to the water rate; from the investigation I made of water rates several years ago, I can remember of but one or two towns where the water rate was as low as Nevada City. In looking over the water bills of the city, in which I was interested, I found that an ordinary home with a lot 40x100 feet, with a family of three or four and with such lawn and garden as a lot of this size would allow, averaged from four to six dollars a month. One home I remember with about one half acre of lawn and one acre of shrubs and trees had a bill from seventy-five to eighty-five dollars per month in the summer. The city paid three dollars and a half per month per fire hydrant as a stand-by charge and paid extra for all water used.

Consideration should be given by the property owners of Nevada City to the fact that any income derived from the sale of water above the actual cost of operation will be applied on the cost of running our city and that otherwise these funds would of necessity be raised by an increase in the tax and real property. It seems to me a splendid opportunity for the city to raise part of the funds to meet their budget from the non property owners of the city, who otherwise pay nothing directly for the benefit of living in a city.

Let us hope that any rates made will not bring about such measurements of the water used as to discourage gardens and well kept grounds of Nevada City. Meters would be a tragedy besides adding a cost of sixty cents per month per meter, as has been determined by the city of San Francisco in a recent investigation.

During the past few years the government of all cities have been called up to furnish not only the necessities of the cities but many of the luxuries, such as municipal golf courses, swimming tanks, decorations for the streets for celebrations and participation in any and all public and quasi-public events and are apt to be criticised for any raise in the tax rate to meet these demands.

Let us be fair and first consider what is best for our city and if we feel that the counsel has made a mistake, let us first be sure we have all the facts and if after an investigation we still feel we have a real constructive suggestion, I feel sure that such suggestions will be given due consideration.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. M. BROWN.

DICK COLLINS FIGHTS FOR 15 PCT. TAX CUT

Richard E. Collins, of Redding, chairman of the State Board of Equalization and one of the leading sponsors of the Riley-Stewart Tax Relief Plan, announced today that the Board hopes to accomplish an additional 15 per cent saving for California common property owners in next year's tax bills.

Tax savings achieved this year for home-owners, farmers and other common property tax payers under the Riley-Stewart Plan totaled more than $40,000,000, Collins said, or an average of a 20 per cent reduction for all property owners.

"With the return of utility property to local tax rolls in January of next year, to be taxed on an absolute equality with common taxpayers," Collins stated, "California counties will be given a new source of taxable wealth which should materially relieve the burden on the small property owner.

"It is absolutely essential that this second phase of the Riley-Stewart Tax Relief Plan be carried to completion to afford vitally needed relief for our most overburdened tax-paying class. The State Board of Equalization is now evaluating utility properties, preparatory to the return of these properties to the county tax rolls, and there is strong indication that we will be able to accomplish a 15 per cent additional tax saving for our common property tax payers next year. This will be of tremendous benefit to agriculture and business, as well as the home-owner, and every effort is being put forth to safe-guard the rights of the common taxpayer."

CCC Boy Loses Life Fighting Forest Fire

William Mattison, CCC boy from Los Angeles, was killed this morning, when a burning snag that he with another boy had been left to watch near North Columbia, fell upon him and crushed him to death.

The boy was one of 55 CCC boys from the camp at White Cloud which succeeded at an early hour this morning in controlling a forest fire after it had burned over 40 acres in the vicinity of North Columbia. After the fire had passed two boys were delegated to watch this big snag to see that it did not spread the fire again.

Coroner A. M. Holmes was called and brought the body to this city where it will remain until word is received from relatives in Los Angeles. Mattison was born in New York and was 21 years of age. He was the son of Bernard Mattison.

RIVER PLACERS READY TO MAKE BIG CLEAN UP

A. H. Hays, who is in charge of the River Placers property north of Nevada City, with a crew of men, has just completed a 670 foot long tunnel which drains the south Yuba river at a horseshoe bend on the property leaving the river channel exposed for a distance of 2,000 feet.

Two drag lines are drawing gravel each way to the sides of the river banks and before many days it is expected this work will be completed over the 2,000 feet stretch, and the clay, mud and gravel will be lifted and placed in sluice boxes and carefully washed to recover the gold. Several thousand dollars have been spent in getting this property in shape and from indications the company will be richly rewarded.

FEDERAL LAW PUTS CHECK ON GUN TOTERS

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 13.—Several inquiries have been made in the local Justice Court for information relative to the new Federal Gun Law. This new law took effect August 1, and owners of guns have until October to register them. This matter comes under the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, the office of the California District has not yet received copies of the law, and as soon as he does so, he will submit a copy to Judge Cleveland, which will be at the disposal of those interested in this Township.

It is stated that the law reads, everyone owning a gun 18 inches long or less must register it with the department, and also be fingerprinted and record their photographs. Failure to do this involves a $250 fine. This is separate and has nothing to do with the California Concealed Weapon Act, which made it necessary to obtain a license to carry a weapon.

CHURCH MEMBERS TO ATTEND TAHOE SERVICE

Bishop Noel Porter of the diocise of Sacramento is in residence at Lake Tahoe and holding regular Sunday services at the chapel. Bishop Porter has invited the members of the near by communitties to attend the services at Tahoe. Members of the Grass Valley and Nevada City Episcopal churches are planning to attend services there on Sunday August 19. After the services they will enjoy a picnic lunch together. It is hoped that many of the members and friends of the church will attend this service as a very happy time is anticipated.

The friends and members of Trinity church, who plan to go to Tahoe will meet at the church at 8 o'clock and all start together. Those who desire transportation and those who have room in their cars for others, will please phone Mrs. E. M. Rector before Saturday, the Rev. Washburn having appointed Mrs. Rector chairman of arrangements.

MARRIAGE DECLARATIONS

SUSSETTI-TERRIBILINI—In Napa county, August 10, 1934, Andrew Susetti, 21, of Valley Ford, and Lucy Terribilini, 20, of Bloomfield.

ASSISTANT LIFE GUARDS NAMED

Addison Janes, superintendent of the municipal swimming pool, reports that he has appointed twelve assistant life guards to help take charge during different parts of the day, especially when Janes is busy with one of his many swimming, diving, or life saving classes. The duties of these assistant life savers are to help see that the swimming pool is conducted in an orderly fashion, to answer demands for arbitration on the subject of water tussles etc. They also relieve Janese of infinite questions of a general nature, such as "What time is it?," "When does beginners swimming start?" and so on and so forth. The following is a list of Janes's assistants and their respective times on duty:

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

11:00 to 12:00 A. M.—Dick Stevens.

12:00 to 1:00 P. M.—Albert Pratti.

1:00 to 2:00 P. M.—Dick Stevens.

2:30 to 3:00 P. M.—Walter Hallet.

3:00 to 4:00 P. M.—Clem Organs.

5:00 to 6:00 P. M.—Franklin Tuttle.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays

11:00 to 12:00 A. M.— Art Elliot.

12:00 to 1:00 P. M.—Fan Robbins.

1:00 to 2:00 P. M.—Carl Tobiassen.

2:00 to 3:00 P. M.—Dick Marriott.

3:00 to 4:00 P. M.—Jackson Englebright.

5:00 to 6:00 P. M.—Tony Cartoscelli.

SILVER CALLED INTO TREASURY

The people of the state should know more about what happens in the treasurer's office, states Tupper S. Malone, candidate for treasurer.

"I'd like to see statements of California's financial condition published frequently," says Mr. Malone.

He is a Democrat of long standing an admirer of President Roosevelt, and in 1910 was a Democratic candidate for treasurer.

TWO SHIFTS OF C C C BOYS WORKING ON ROAD

E. J. Haverstock, candidate for supervisor of the third district, stated last Friday that the CCC boys from White Cloud, or Camp 914, were building a fine piece of road above Washington. This is their second year on the grade that goes from Washington to Graniteville and Bowman, in a four year program as mapped out by the Tahoe National Forest Service under supervisor K. L. P. Bigelow.

Under Foreman Murphy, the boys are widening, filling in and taking out boulders. Two compressors work in the day time and one at night drilling into the rock for blasting in order to widen and take off curves in this rough narrow mountain road.

Thomas O. McCraney returned to Berkeley Sunday after a vacation spent in Nevada City with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando McCraney. He will study law in Boalt Hall in Berkeley. He graduated from Stanford University last spring.

RUBY MINE BUILDING FIVE STAMP MILL

Mr. L. L. Huelsdonk and E. C. Montgomery, engineers and superintendent, are adding a five stamp mill to the pilot mill, comprised of two stamps, at the Ruby mine near Alleghany. This will be used to work out values and processes. Al Kelliher and crew are dismantling a ten stamp mill at the Mattie mine and moving the crusher and compressor etc. to the Ruby property to be used in the pilot mill. In the spring a modern 100 ton mill will be installed at the Ruby mine by Messers. Huelsdonk and Montgomery. Mr. Best, one of the Bests of tractor and caterpillar fame, is one of the large stockholders of the Ruby mine.

LAVA CAP MINE NOW EMPLOYS 100 MEN

Sinking has progressed to the 1,180 foot level in the projected 1200 feet in the Central shaft at the Lava Cap property southeast of Nevada City. Two shifts are working in the Banner shaft. A new power line has been built to the Lava Cap.

The mill is now treating 150 tons of ore per day, and 100 men are employed. Otto E. Schiffner is superintendent.

JUDGE TUTTLE PRESIDES IN LONG BEACH COURTS

Friends of Judge Raglan Tuttle, recently assigned by the State Judicial Council to the Long Beach branch of the Los Angeles Superior Court, will be pleased to learn that on his arrival there he was designated to act as presiding judge, very much of an honor, and an excellent experience for the visiting jurist. In this position he assigns all the work to the four departments located at Long Beach, besides handling all probate matters and the law and motions calender.

Judge Tuttle writes that he has been astounded at the political strength developed by Upton Sinclair. He thinks, however, that on the Republican ticket Merriam will carry the South by a large vote.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PICNIC MEETING

Members of the Epworth League of Placer and Nevada counties will have a picnic meeting at Lake Combe, near Auburn on Thursday evening, August 16. Leaguers of the two counties will have a basket picnic supper early in the evening after which an evening service will be held. County officers of the group will be in charge of the meeting. The program will be given jointly by the Nevada and Placer groups. Mr. Mee, an active member from Sacramento, will contribute to the program.

CLYDE SEAVEY BACKS YOUNG

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Assailing the legislative record of Acting Governor Frank F. Merriam as "reactionary and anti-humanitarian," and declaring Merriam's "public life is decidedly objectionable," Clyde L. Seavey, outstanding figure in the public life of California, urged the election of former Governor C. C. Young for the Republican nomination for Governor, in a recent address. Seavey is resigning the presidency of the California state railroad commission to accept an appointment by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as member of the Federal Power Commission at Washington, D. C.

"I personally have known Mr. Merriam since 1917, when he came to the State Legislature," Seavey said. "He is a pleasant and affable gentleman. But his public life is decidedly objectionable. I cannot agree with his social philosophy as exemplified by his official acts. No politician at the age of seventy like Mr. Merriam, has ever been known to change his spots except by camouflage, and so we must know what his spots really are.

"We find he has followed the anti-humanitarian and reactionary leadership of the LosAngeles Times of reactionary big business, and of reactionary utilities. He voted against Workmen's Compensation, to which, under the California experience, all forward-looking business interests now give endorsement.

"In 1921 he voted against the legal rights of the great mass of general property taxpayers, and supported the utilities in their fight to prevent equalization under the King Tax Bill.

"In the numerous years he was in the legislature, he was consistent in voting against all major and consequential measures for the legitimate relief of the men and women who labor.

"In 1923 he supported Governor Richardson in his attack on the unreasonable reduction in the appropriations by which the utilities of the state are controlled, thereby weakening the ability of that branch of the state service. He also supported the attempt to cripple the state school departments and other functions.

"In 1923 Mr. Merriam also supported the reduction in appropriations for the National Guard beyond the amount necessary for proper maintenance.

"Mr. C. C. Young not only opposed Mr. Merriam in all of these matters, but in 1927 and 1929, as Governor, he restored proper support to these various functions, including the National Guard, which has been so maintained since.

"It was this National Guard that, upon the pressure of public opinion and the request of local authority, acting Governor Merriam called out as the only means by which the state could lend adequate help in the recent trouble. And now Candidate Merriam has seized this one thing as the only available campaign issue he can find, and seeks nomination for calling out an efficient organization which he, as Legislator, was willing to cripple and make impotent.

"I am asking you, as I have asked myself, which of these two leading candidates can I, as a citizen loyal to the traditions and needs of California, support for this high office. These are matters which have always appealed to me strongly, and so far as California is concerned they still appeal to me for, while I will be out of the state perhaps several years, my property, my home, and my residence remain here. I must share with you all of the honor or all of the shame that goes with the administration of state affairs here in the next four years.

"Against a candidate with a consistent reactionary record, lacking in any constructive effort, I must choose the one with a known and proven record for vision and action in the public interest. Not only must we have a candidate with progressive ideals, but one whose experience fits him to go into action at once in the tremendously important legislative and administrative program and serious financial problem before us. For these reasons I am supporting C. C. Young."

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEMBERS HOME FROM INSTITUTE

The San Juan bus returned Saturday night from the Epworth League Institute at Strong's Station, Humboldt county, with its load of Nevada City Leaguers. Returning with them came the first award banner, presented on a basis of completely entering into the spirit of the camp. This is not the first time the Nevada City group has come home from Institute, bringing with it first award, for at almost every Institute, the Nevada City Epworth League has brought back one trophy or another.

All those who went reported a most enjoyable and instructive vacation. The following arrived home Saturday: Elma Eden, Claris Holland, Audrey Davis, Marjorie Williams, Betty Tefft, Naomi Whitley, Flossie Angove, Gertrude Schreiber, Helen Arbogast, Margaret Phariss, Paul Phariss, Don Jones, Ben Sweeney, Carl Murchie, Charles Jeffery, and the Rev. H. H. Buckner. Mr. L. E. Sweeney took his car, and with him were Bill Jeffrey, and Mrs. Green.

The trip home from Humboldt county took about twenty hours, two hours longer than the trip down because tire trouble was experienced. The bus left the Institute about ten o'clock Friday evening and arrived here Saturday at about six p. m.

LIQUOR JOINTS MUST CLOSE ELECTION DAY

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 13.—In response to several inquiries, the District Attorney's office at Marysville, has given forth the opinion that the old statute prohibiting the sale of liquor on election day is still in full force and effect. Section 63b of the Penal Code prohibits the sale of liquor in any public place where malt or spirituous liquors are sold or given away, during the time the polls are open.

It was thought by some that this law was off the books when prohibition took effect, but such is not the case, and the law never having been repealed is still in force.

RFC LOANS FOR MINES

This information concerning how metal miners and metal mining companies may secure loans has all been told before, but, for the benefit of those who may still be in doubt, the terms are repeated again, as follows:

All applications must be made direct to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; 1825 H street, Washington, D. C., and upon application forms obtained from that office.

Such loans will be made to recognized and established corporations, individuals and partnerships engaged in the business of mining, milling and smelting ore, but adequate security must be provided, says circular No. 14 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, "Information Regarding Mining Loans."

The terms and conditions are; Loans ordinarily up to five years, maybe longer. Interest not to exceed 6 per cent. Made for working capital and fixed capital such as construction, improvements, repairs, equipment and other purposes, provided there are sufficient ore reserves to justify capital investment.

No loans to pay indebtedness, but such indebtedness may be deferred and subordinated provided there is adequate security for the proposed loan.

Only an incidental portion of the loan may be used for taxes. No loans can be made for purely propective or promotional purposes or on properties in which ore of sufficient value to insure repayment of the loans has not been blocked out, at least partially. Coal and non-metallics do not come under the law.

There must be a reasonable amount of development, at least a partial blocking out of ore, and a first mortgage, including plant, equipment and water rights will be required or a first lien on assets of sound marketable value.

Each applicant must execute a certificate to comply with the N. R. A. code. Bonuses, fees or commissions are prohibited in securing the loan, and such fees as are necessary must be disclosed. Salaries and dividends will be under the supervision of the R. F. C.

An independent audit and an appraisal of the property involved by a "reputable mining engineer, both satisfactory to this Corporation," not more than six months prior to the filing of the application, are required.

Upon request of the corporation, applicant will be required to make a deposit to cover the cost of field work which may be necessary in connection with the examination of the property.—Mining Review.

ROBBERS' ROOST

Zane Grey

Copyright.—WNU Service.

Jim lost no time in complying with his first order from the superintendent of Star ranch. What a monstrous and incredible hoax was being perpetrated upon some foreigner!

Evidently there had been ranchers here in this valley before Herrick. Old log cabins and corrals adjoining the new ones attested to this.

Jim passed cowboys with only a word or a nod. He talked with an old man who said he had owned a homestead across the valley, one of those Herrick had gathered in.

Jim gleaned information from this rancher. Herrick had bought out all the cattle men in the valley, and on round the foothill line to Limestone Springs, where the big X Bar outfit began. Riders for these small ranches had gone to work for Herrick. He was told that Heeseman, with ten men, was out on the range.

Presently Jim encountered Hays, accompanied by a tall, floridly blond man, garbed as no westerner had ever been. This, of course, must be the Englishman. He was young, hardly over thirty, and handsome in a fleshy way.

"Mr. Herrick, this is my new hand I was tellin' you about," announced Hays, glibly. "Jim Wall, late of Wyomin'. . . . Jim, meet the boss."

"How do you do, Mr. Wall," returned Herrick. "I understand you've had wide experience on ranches?"

"Yes, sir. I've been riding the range since I was a boy," replied Jim.

"Hays has suggested making you his foreman."

"That is satisfactory to me."

"You are better educated than these other men. It will be part of your duties to keep my books."

"I've tackled that job before."

"So I was tellin' the boys," interposed Hays.

"As I understand ranching," went on Herrick, "a foreman handles the riders. Now, as this ranching game is strange to me I'm glad to have a foreman of experience. My idea was to hire some gunmen along with the cowboys. Hays' name was given me at Grand Junction as the hardest nut in eastern Utah. It got noised about, I presume, for other men with reputations calculated to intimidate thieves applied to me. I took on Heeseman and his friends."

"But you really did not need go to the expense—and risk, I might add—of hiring Heeseman's outfit."

"Expense is no object. Risk, however—what do you mean by risk?"

"Between ourselves, I strongly suspect that Heeseman is a rustler."

"By Jove! You don't say? This is ripping. Heeseman said the identical thing about Hays."

"Wal, Mr. Herrick, don't you worry none," interposed Hays, suavely. "Shore I don't take kind to what Heeseman called me to your face, but I can overlook it for the present. You see, if Heeseman is workin' for you he can't rustle as many cattle as if he wasn't. Anythin' come of that deal you had on with the Grand Junction outfit?"

"Yes. I received their reply the other day," rejoined Herrick. "By Jove, that reminds me. I had word from my sister, Helen. It came from St. Louis. She is coming through Denver and will arrive at Grand Junction about the fifteenth."

"Young girl—if I may ask?" added Jim.

"Young woman. Helen is twenty-two."

"Comin' for a little visit?" asked Hays.

"By Jove, it bids fair to be a life-long one," declared Herrick, as if pleased. "She wants to make Star ranch her home. We are devoted to each other. If she can stick it out in this bush I'll be jolly glad. Can you drive from Grand Junction in one day?"

Jim strolled around the corrals, the sheds, down the lane between the pastures, out to the open range.

This Englishman's sister—this Helen Herrick—she would be coming to a remote, wild and beautiful valley. What would the girl be like? Twenty-two years old, strong, a horsewoman, and handsome—very likely blond, as was her brother! And Jim made a mental calculation of the ruffians in Herrick's employ. Eighteen!

After supper Hays leaned back and surveyed the company. "Fellers, we've a pow-wow on hand. Clear the table. Fetch another lamp. We'll lay out the cards an' some coin, so we can pretend to be settin' in a little game if anybody happens along. But the game we're really settin' in is the biggest ever dealt in Utah.

"Talk low, everybody," instructed Hays. "An' one of you step out on the porch now an' then. Heeseman might be slick enough to send a scout over here. 'Cause we're goin' to do thet little thing to him. . . . Happy, dig up thet box of cigars I've been savin'."

"Nothin' to drink, fellers," returned Hays. "We're a robber outfit. No arguin' or fightin'. . . . Any of you who doesn't like thet can walk out now."

They were impressed by his cool force.

"All right. Wal an' good. We're set," he went on. "Today I changed my mind about goin' slow with this job."

"Herrick reckons there are upwards of ten thousand head of stock on the range. Some of these ranchers he bought out sold without a count. I bought half a dozen herds for Herrick. An' I underestimated say, rough calculatin', around two thousand head. So there's twelve thousand good. Thet's a herd, fellers. Air there any of you who wouldn't care to play a game for twelve thousand head of cattle at forty dollars per?"

There did not appear to be a single one.

"Ahuh. Wal, thet's okay. Now, can we drive such a big herd?"

"Boss, listen to this idee," spoke up Smoky. "Most of these Star cattle range down the valley twenty miles below here. How'd it do for, say, five of us to quit Herrick an' hide below somewhere? Meanwhile you go to Grand Junction an' arrange to have your buyers expect a bunch of cattle every week. A thousand to two thousand head. We'd make the drives an' keep it up as long as it worked. You're boss, an' Wall here is foreman. You could keep the cowboys close to the ranch."

"Smoky, it's shore a big idee," declared Hays, enthusiastically. "But what about Heeseman?"

"Let's clean out his bunch."

Hays shook his head.

"Fellers, if we pick a fight with that outfit some of us will get killed an' others crippled. Then we couldn't pull the deal. A better idee is for one of us to kill Heeseman."

"Who'd you pick on to do thet, Hank?"

"Nope," said Hays, shaking his head. "With all thet's due Smoky an' Brad I wouldn't choose either. Jim, here, is the man for thet job."

"Mebbe we could drive off six or eight thousand head of stock before Heeseman ever found out," put in Smoky. "What's the sense of fightin' it out till we have to?"

The suggestion found instant favor on all sides.

"But we don't want Heeseman trailin' us," expostulated Hays.

"You mean after we pull the deal?" queried Brad, incredulously.

"Shore I mean after."

"Wal, what in thunderation do we care for him, when we've got the coin an' are on our way to thet roost we're due to find?"

"Let's put my idee to a vote," said Smoky.

UNION HOTEL RESTORED AND REMODELED

The Union Hotel has recently been completely remodeled and restored to its former state of excellence. Under the direction of Barambani and Panelli, the rooms have been re-fitted and beautified. Connected with the Union Hotel is the Lucca Cafe, which makes a specialty of serving fine Italian dinners under the supervision of a capable and experienced chef. The equipment is the most modern obtainable and the food is completely protected by up-to-date sanitary equipment.

A party of people connected with the Murchie mine enjoyed a banquet at the Lucca Cafe Saturday night. Those present were: Messrs and Mesdames George Ebaugh, James Martin, Aldo Casci, Lester Kervin, Al Sommers, Francis McCarhey, Charles Lyhurst, Lewis Davidson, also Messers Donald Macari, Melo Ungaro, George Halstead, and Arthur Cristenson.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Ross P. Rogers and three children, of North Columbia, were Nevada City visitors Saturday. They plan to move to Nevada City before the winter months. Mr. Rogers is an engineer at the River Placers mine.

Mrs. H. Button, of Mountain View, is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Geo. Bobst at her new home on the corner of Nimrod and Clay streets. Mrs. Button is a sister of Mrs. Etta Los Kamp. Mrs. William Hafley, of Superior, Arizona, is also a guest at the Bobst home. Mrs. Bobst and her two guests will go to Modesto Monday to visit Mrs. Bobst's son.

Arthur Dolan and daughter, Geraldine, motored to Nevada City Wednesday for a visit with Mr. Dolan's brother, J. F. Dolan and wife. Mr. Dolan and wife motored to Sacramento Sunday with their two daughters, Misses Geraldine and Lorraine, who returned to Oakland to school. Their parents returned here to spend another week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman, of Hollywood, arrived in Nevada City Wednesday for a visit of a few days with Mr. Osterman's mother, Mrs. Clara Scarfe. Mr. and Mrs. Osterman returned home Sunday and Mrs. Scarfe accompanied them as far as Sacramento.

Gerald Hogan, who has been employed at Harris' Drug Store, will leave Wednesday morning for San Francisco, where he will enroll as a Junior in the University of California College of Pharmacy.

Miss Mamie Meservey, assistant postmaster in Nevada Ciy, is leaving today for a visit in the eastern states. She will visit relatives in Portland, Maine, and spend some time visiting points of interest during her month's vacation. Elza J. Kilroy, who has been in the local office for many years will take Miss Meservey's place while she is away.

Julius C. Ramm and son, of near Camptonville, were Nevada City visitors today. They are developing their quartz mining property. Mr. Ramm has had long years of experience in mining, having worked properties in Washington state and Alaska, returning home recently after about 30 years absence.

Mrs. Catherine Celio and daughter left Sunday for the bay district. Miss Catherine Celio will enter the University of California as a sophomore this year.

George H. Clelland, local service station owner, left Nevada City Sunday to attend the American Legion convention in San Francisco this week. He expects to return home Wednesday.

Luther Marsh, Commander Elect, of the American Legion post, and Mrs. Marsh, are attending the state convention in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eilerman and son of the bay district, visited with Mr. Eilerman's father, Fred Eilerman, Sr., and two sisters, Misses Frances and Ernestine, in Nevada City Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Eilerman are camped at Silver Lake with friends and were accompanied to Nevada City by Misses Ann McGregor, and Janet McClure, and Mr. Peter Shearer.

Mrs. Harold Anderson and children, Richard and Jean, left Sunday with Mr. Anderson for Petaluma, where they will reside. Mrs. Anderson and children have been here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. P. Bigelow.

Frank Clark, mining engineer, who is developing his mining ground 12 miles above Downieville, has written friends here he is quite pleased with showings made this season. The forest service is building a road from Downieville to Johnsville that is now within three miles of Clark's property and will be a great benefit to him.

R. L. P. Bigelow, superintendent of the Tahoe National Forest, returned Sunday from attending the meeting at Red Bluff of all forest service supervisors with their chief officer from Washington, D. C. Mr. Bigelow left earty this morning for Donner Lake where he joined the group that goes by horse back from there to Dutch Flat, placing markers on the old wagon road traveled by pioneers. Mr. Bigelow expects to return to Nevada City late tonight.

ADJUDGED INSANE

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 13.—C. H. Clifton, many years a resident of Freeman's Crossing, was adjudged insane Friday by a commission in the Superior Court at Marysville, and committed to the state institution. His mind had been wandering for quite some time, and last week he started walking for Redding on a supposed mining deal. He was of a good nature, and harmless, but a great hazard to his own safety.
